

Our Guided Motorcycle Tours

Enduro Touring and Bike Tours NZ have carefully selected the most interesting, scenic routes and included many main attractions and points of interest.

A regular day starts with a good briefing after breakfast. We talk about the highlights of the day and important fuel stops or turnings etc and the location of the evening accommodation and then you are free to ride as you like. Some people like to photograph and others like cappuccino stops so they ride at a different pace but you will naturally team up with whoever suits your kind of riding. You can also ride with the guide. We try to meet up for lunch stops or other breaks during the day and in the afternoon/evening we meet at the hotel or campground.

Hotel Tours

On these tours we use a mixture of 3-4 star quality accommodation. The tour cost includes breakfast but does not include lunch or evening meals. We usually go out as a group to a local restaurant for dinner. There will be a variety of restaurants near our nightly accommodation to suit different budgets and tastes.

Our Tour Guides

Our guides live in New Zealand, are active motorbike riders and know the roads and country extremely well. They ensure the smooth running of all our tours to maximize your enjoyment of your NZ holiday.

The guides will give you informative briefings outlining the points of interest. They will help with booking any activities you may like to try as well as being great travel buddies. They will endeavour to help you do the things you want to do on your motorcycle vacation.

Our service

We make a point of avoiding a "cattle drive" by limiting the tour groups to a maximum of 12 and giving each rider sufficient freedom to travel at their own pace. A day's ride is usually between 200-400km allowing plenty of time for sightseeing, relaxing or more bike riding.

Our support vehicle transports your luggage and provides backup on the road thus enabling you to enjoy your riding to the full. In the mornings we discuss the day's route, attractions on the way and our destination for the end of the day. The road is then yours to enjoy.

Travel and Tour Preparation

Luggage should be packed in one or two soft bags for ease of transportation in the support van. There are plenty of opportunities to do laundry during the tour in the places we stay so therefore we would recommend packing light.

Weather

Summer here is a bit like many places in Europe and Scandinavia but the days are not so long. New Zealand has a diverse landscape and very variable weather patterns and depending on where we are (North Island / South Island /in the mountains /by the coast etc.), temperatures and the weather can change quickly.

What to pack

We have put together a packing list to help you ensure you have the correct gear for your tour.

Things you should bring with you:

Helmet - Full-face is recommended (flies, stones and dust)

Riding Jacket and Trousers - with liner for safety and comfort

Gloves - Absolutely essential (warm and cold weather)

Shoes - Motorcycle boots or sturdy walking boots

Waterproofs - Better to be prepared

Casual, hard wearing clothing

Jeans, T-shirts, shorts, sandals and gym shoes. Long sleeve shirt or T-shirt (insect protection)

Warmer clothes such as a thick sweater or fleece jacket.

(Although the tours take place during the summer, the New Zealand climate is extremely variable)

Swimwear and Towel

Please note To avoid problems at customs when you arrive please make sure your boots and out door gear are clean and do not bring any fresh fruit or food into the airport (not even if you received it on the plane) We have very strict rules to protect our isolated and sensitive ecosystem here.

If you are joining a camping/cabin tour

You will need a torch/ flashlight and a good sleeping bag (3 seasons). Sometimes, especially in the alpine regions it will be a bit fresh overnight.

Your tent and a sleeping mat are supplied by us.

New Zealand Heritage Tour

Auckland to Christchurch - Christchurch to Auckland

The New Zealand Heritage Tour, or "The Pub Tour", as nick-named, is a tour that will take you back in time, giving you a real taste of what New Zealand used to be like.

We will follow some historically important travel and transportation routes and stay in old, historical hotels and rustic pubs from the pioneering times along the way.

Besides visiting old mining villages and out of the way places, the tour still covers many of the classic attractions and places of interest.

Since we use less touristic places for accommodation it means you get more opportunities to meet and mix with the locals in their favourite pub, or 'watering hole' where everything or anything can happen!

This tour is designed for all sorts of bike rider from cruisers to adventure bikes. Some days also offer alternative gravel routes for the more experienced back road riders, on suitable bikes.

The tour is a 19 day tour (17 riding days) in mid class quirky/historical accommodation. Your luggage is transported by your guide in the support vehicle.

Riding days are in general between 200-300 km allowing time for visits photos and discoveries.

There are also 2 double stops/rest days for other activities or extra riding as an option, of course.

The following is a brief outline of the Heritage tour.

Leaving Auckland behind we head for the Coromandel Peninsula with twisty roads and beautiful beaches.

Besides being a bikers' paradise it still has active goldmines and it was here the largest recorded kauri trees were cut down in late 1800s.

The journey continues south and we cross over to the western side of the North Island to pick up old shipping routes used by steam boats during pioneering times. Naturally, with meandering rivers, the roads along-side them will be the same.

- Napier
- Wanganui
- Marlborough Wine District
- Westland National Park
- Lewis Pass
- Glaciers
- Central Otago
- Queenstown
- Oamaru
- Lake Tekapo
- Arthurs Pass

We reach Wanganui, the second biggest Art Deco town in NZ, which was an important port town for the early European settlers. The town centre is a fine example of Art Deco architecture. From Wanganui, the tour crosses the lower North Island and continues down the east coast on remote back roads to Wellington and then the ferry crossing to the South Island.

Since the South Island had less population, more gold-fields and longer distances to travel by horse drawn coaches, the selection of old hotels and travel resting stations are plentiful. Many, even today, are still in the original style and will add 'spice' to your NZ experience!

Once on the South Island, we head toward the north west gold fields and remote west coast. These small villages are isolated even now and remind us of the tough lives people must have lived in the early pioneering and gold digging times.

Continuing south along Westland National Park we spend the night in what would today, be one of NZ most remote settlements.

After the West Coast, historical Haast Pass (first opened in 1965) leads us inland to Central Otago where we spend a few days. The region is steeped in history and as a result, offers many quirky and charming hotels to stay in along with stunning scenery, gold-fields and fruit orchards to see.

From the here, our tour continues to the east coast where much of the wool produced in the South Island was exported from. Port towns like Oamaru and Timaru still show some of the country's best and well preserved architecture built in late 1800's, their 'hay day'.

Lastly the tour will zig-zag across the island again to follow two more historical routes, 'Arthurs Pass' and 'Lewis Pass' and then on to our final destination, Christchurch.
